

Iron Age Crannogs

A large number of crannogs - artificial islands with round houses - are found in the Highlands. A reconstructed one at Kenmore in Perthshire is well worth a visit.

A plan from a 19th century excavation of Loch of the Clans crannog between Inverness and Nairn. Nothing survives of the substantial timbers uncovered.

