

Late Bronze Age Gold Hoard from the Heights of Brae near Dingwall

Bronze Age craftspeople made gold as well as bronze objects. This hoard is the largest surviving Late Bronze Age gold hoard in Scotland. The gold objects were either made in Ireland or are copies of Irish fashion. It is now in the NMS, Edinburgh but there are replicas in Inverness Museum.